ISO 14001 is the standard which sets out the criteria for the set-up, introduction, monitoring and further development of environmental management systems. Its main objective is to bring environmental protection and the prevention of environmental pollution in line with economic, social and political needs.

The Forest Stewardship Council Germany (FSC®) has set itself the goal of managing the world's forests in an environmentally appropriate, socially compatible and sustainable manner. The FSC® has set out worldwide, uniform basic principles for responsible forest management. The FSC® label means that materials used for the product have been responsibly sourced. Look for FSC®-certified products in this brochure.

The European standard for compostable materials is DIN EN 13432 (seedling). During suitable industrial composting, more than 90 percent of the product has biodegraded after 80 days. After six months, even the smallest particles (under 2 mm) have been fully metabolized.

The OK compost HOME logo developed by the TÜV Austria Group guarantees the biological degradation process of products in home composting, e.g. on the compost heap in your garden.

The most important quality seals and certificates

Our products and ranges are at the center of our overall vision for sustainability. We consider environmental and social aspects to be equally important to our high quality standards. In the selection of products and production, we are guided by the quality seals which give you a clear message. We not only give preference to items which carry quality seals from independent authorities and/or certification institutions, but we also actively ensure the certification and continuous monitoring of our products.
